PROOF SUFFICIENT.

The Herald's correspondent at Albuquerque has one distinguishing trait and that is his adherence to facts without and all circumstances.He had an unusual reputation in this respect until he began to write for the Herald about the justifiability and value of the arrested peach crop when it was declared abundant at certain times in July and August by the blue pencil on several of his articles. But he has triumphedin good old Missouri fashion by showing can.A recent article from his versatile pen told of the fine peach crop from the Craft orchards. And before there was any opportunity to refute its statements to coincide with the views of Rio Grande growers the Carlisle correspondent, through the courtesy of the Craft packers, forwarded to the Herald a box of those same peaches.The blue pencil will be used no more on the Carlisle correspondent when he is describing the peach crop.
He did not do it justice and it would have been impossible for him to haveexaggerated. The peaches are all that he described and more. If the farmers and fruit growers of New Mexico more generally realized the high standard attained by the fruit growers of the Pecos valley they could better appreciate the field that is open to them.The Herald's Carlisle correspondent still preserves his reputation for veracity on air and all occasions and the Carlisle peach still retains its unparalleled and unsurpassed

WHY THE HOUSE QUITS.

President Taft's message to Congress on the subject of controller bills was a remarkable document. It contained a clear explanation of the elimination of about 12,000 acres of Alaska land, but it also contained one of the strongest arrangements of slanders, libels, miscreants and scandalous that ever came from the white man.Colonel Roosevelt deserves he will not make another speech this summer.
Now if congress will adjourn there may yet be time to get in a short fishing trip.Those thirteen questions that emanated from the region of Nebraska are awaiting answer. Or if it possible they are too ancient to be worth talking about just now.If those intriguers had known how cheaply they could have bought our share in Controller they would have had no incentive to steal it.Texas needs peace, says the Houston Post. At last the Post has found out what kills Texas.The Princess Chimay has sealed her third divorce. Why not the said from the editor of the Times. While the various progressives will put quite as much attention to social work with the Journal, a list is kept of a while manufacturing, still one does not get the idea of reading about it later than that is caused by probing that the news reader naturally tells the whole from his book."

And if it is a red shirt that now much more probably the news readers would.

UNSTABLE MEXICO.

Mexico still has to go before she can rule her government secure and it is important that she right and the nations of the world are looking with apprehension on the situation down there.

It is a matter of common knowledge that political parties were addicted horribly and in confusion for two months ago mainly in order to forestall intervention by the United States other country, and it is known now that the bitterness and fury expressed for a time then are still showing wider in extent each day. It may be that the wise guidance of a few men down there will work order out of chaos but the chances are against it and we may expect at any time a condition in Mexico that bothers us abroad.

At least today is a leading editor that awaits only the ripening of the crops and the first outbreak to remove chieftains and many small arrives in the field, one against the other.

It will be unfortunate for Mexico should such a state come to pass, but it is the one thing now most to be feared in that republic. Mexico has not yet produced her strong men in the present crisis.

The blue pencil will be used no more on the Carlisle correspondent
when he is describing the peach crop.
He did not do it justice and it would have been impossible for him to have exaggerated. The peaches are all

is open to them.

TURBULENT TIMES
IN MEXICO OVER
FOR PRESENT

Prominent Mining Man Says Situation is Quiet Now, But Outbreak May Come Again
At Any Time.

That conditions in Mexico will not be as bad as they were when Porfirio Diaz was president of the republic is the opinion of William Judd, a prominent mining man of Mexico who arrived yesterday from Oaxaca.
Mr. Judd, after more than a week's journey, Mr. Johnson is interested in the properties of the Sierra Mining company in the interior, several days along the line and that matters in his department were progressing very satisfactorily. Before leaving he became vice-president of the Santa Fe. Mr. Hodges was general purchasing agent for the road. Mr. Hodges yesterday did not care to say anything as to the significance of his recent trip over the Cuchillo country and fields, a trip which was taken some time ago by President E. P. Bishop and Vice-President Victor Morris.

RED SHIRTS.
Up in Ohio the other day a man gave a train from striking a broken rail by obscenely tearing the shirt from his back and waving a signal to the engineer.

We can not help being impressed by the fact that he did a good deed.
That it was a brave deed is not apparent since no risked nothing but his shirt. In analyzing the story further we even fail to understand why he did not wave his hat or his coat or a sock or some other wearing apparel. But the true solution probably is that this man, who no doubt saved many lives, was wearing a red shirt.

Red shirts are not stylish and some critical persons might even call them loud, yet here was a man with a red shirt who had the temerity to defi-the fashions of the day and who turned his daring to good account.
The moral of the tale undoubtedly is in the fact that every track walker should carry a red shirt with him.
There is nothing that will stop a train so quickly and surely as a red shirt.

Does your daughter sing in Old Madrid?" asked the visitor.

"No, darn it!" exclaimed the long-suffering parent. "She sings right here."

NOTHING TO DO WITH THE BARD ON OLYMPUS.

A drug clerk down the street is very popular with the nation.
There is nothing remarkable about this statement and little that is remarkable about the drug clerk. The thing that he is noted for, however, is not selling for child can carmen. Child can carmen is the chief of his duty, and this here young drug clerk never goes in it. So says the bard upon times. Otherwise, as the young man with a friend and two cigarettes and a cigarette holder strayed down celestial avenue after the moving picture show.

They used passed a child emporium—one of those places on wheels where stands for the biting damage appears on their tarts. The drug clerk smiled, "Ah, said the bard on high Olympus, "there's where the drug clerk gets himself named one," and in a moment the drug clerk found himself saying, "Farewell, friends, this is the chief of the Rio Grande, wouldn't partake of this delicacy. Behold the peasant odor of the child emporium."
